Dear Parents,

Wow, Monday really was a nice treat for everyone! We all need that every once in a while. The warm weather is great to have back. Some parents have begun to ask about winter clothing. I don't force the extra layers right now with the warmer weather, but I also know how winter can be here in Vermont. We might still need them before totally packing them away! Boots are still nice to have due to our playground conditions, mud is still here. Please check the weather and use your judgement. It seems a little early to be having these conversations, but we can only hope for the best.

We continue to wash our hands and remind students to wash their hands for at least 20 seconds each time. I know we are trying our best to keep everyone healthy. We practice these safety things all year to be sure to stay home if you don't feel well and have a fever.

The students really enjoyed the show at the Lebanon Opera House on Wednesday! It helped them to see just how important books are and how everyone can find one (or more) to love! It is so important for us to expose our students to theater at a young age as well.

I look forward to seeing all of you next week for our conference time. Thank you to everyone who has responded. This is an important time for us to share information with each other. We always have a lot to share! Remember, your child will be sharing at the beginning of the conference, but will be allowed to play quietly in the hallway so we have time to share with each other. Report cards will be sent home on Friday, March 27.

I will send home towels next Thursday to be washed.

I will also not send a note or folders next week due to conferences.
